

RunCzech frees up registrations for the Sportisimo Prague Half Marathon and Volkswagen Prague Marathon

The Sportisimo Prague Half Marathon is scheduled to kick off from the Rudolfinum on Saturday 1st April. With just three weeks to go before the race gets under way, RunCzech frees up registrations for this biggest running race in the Czech Republic. And the same goes for the RunCzech Running League flagship event – the Volkswagen Prague Marathon in May. It is also still possible to sign up to both races via the partner charity organisations.

Runners have again the opportunity to register for the Prague races held in spring directly on www.runczech.com. "How come registrations are reopening? It's simple, people have returned incomplete registrations and we want them to go to new owners," President of the RunCzech Organising Committee Carlo Capalbo reveals. Capacity for the Sportisimo Prague Half Marathon stands at 11 500 runners and available spaces have already gone on sale.

Start numbers for the Sportisimo Prague Half Marathon as well as the Volkswagen Prague Marathon can also be picked up as part of a travel package on www.runczechhotels.com or via one of the not-for-profit organisations RunCzech cooperates with.

Sales of registrations for other 2017 RunCzech Running League races are also in full swing. Runners can now sign up for the half marathons in Karlovy Vary (20th May), České Budějovice (3rd June), Olomouc (24th June) and Ústí nad Labem (16th September), the five and ten kilometre race held as part of the Birell Prague Grand Prix (9th September) and the O2 Prague 4x5 Relay taking place in Stromovka on 14th and 15th June.
